

What if you could look inside a researcher's brain?

- Find collaborators to strengthen your next grant proposal
- Understand a researcher's areas of expertise and how they've changed over time
- Track publications by individual and department

SciVal Experts delivers a directory of research expertise that makes it easier to find experts and enables collaboration within institutions or across organizations

www.scival.com