Life Sciences Research Board

Defence Research & Development Organization (DRDO), New Delhi has established Life Sciences Research Board (LSRB) on 6 March 1998, to promote original imaginative research in various disciplines of Life Sciences. The aim is to expand and strengthen the knowledge base of Life Sciences in the country by utilizing and networking of national resource of knowledge, know-how, expertise, facilities and infrastructure.

LSRB supports research proposals from non-Defence institutions in various areas of Life Sciences, e.g. biological and biomedical sciences, psychology, physiology, bio-engineering, biotechnology, specialized high altitude agriculture, food science & technology and bioresources. Innovative ideas and proposals from young scientists will be encouraged. For further information, please write to:
