International Workshop on Stress Physiology and Endocrinology, Department of Zoology University of Kerala
16-18 September 2008

Stress, an unavoidable state in almost all organisms, demands physiological modifications. The International Workshop on Stress Physiology and Endocrinology is aimed at discussing the challenges in stress physiology research. Each session of the workshop will focus on the specific areas of stress physiology and endocrinology and the pioneers in stress research will be leading the sessions. The young faculty members and the research scholars are the target groups.

Only limited seats are available and the registration is online. Please visit www.stressphysiology.org
